

Timberland Acres in Washington State*

*Timberland acres are federal, state, private and other forested lands used for commercial timber harvests. "Other private" includes Native American tribal timberlands.

"Other public" includes state trust timberlands.

SOURCE: Sources used by David Larsen, Department of Natural Resources (360-902-1000), 1998: (1) Waddell, Karen L.; Oswald, Daniel D.; and Powell, Douglas. September 1989. Forest Statistics of the United States, 1987. Resource Bulletin PNW-RB-168. Data years reported are 1952, 1970, 1977, and 1987. USDA Forest Service Pacific Northwest Forest and Range Experiment Station, Portland, Oregon. (2) Bolsinger, Charles L.; McKay, Neil; Gedney, Donald R.; and Alerich, Carol. Washington's Public and Private Forests, January 1997. Resource Bulletin PNW-RB-218. USDA Forest Service, Pacific Northwest Research Station, Portland, Oregon.